ABOUT AGNEW WINES

Agnew Wines is a family owned and operated wine company with three distinct brands; Poole's Rock, Audrey Wilkinson and Cockfighter's Ghost.

In 2011 the Agnew family, who already owned the historic Audrey Wilkinson Vineyard, acquired the neighbouring Cockfighter's Ghost and Poole's Rock brands. Today, the Agnew Wines Group produces award-winning wine across the three labels, in our state of the art 3,000 tonne capacity winery.

JEFF BYRNE
CHIEF WINEMAKER

Jeff Byrne, Chief Winemaker for Agnew Wines, is a native Canadian who developed his winemaking prowess under the expert tutelage of the late Len Evans (OBE AO). In 2007 Jeff graduated with a Bachelor of Wine Science degree from Charles Sturt University and was awarded the Hunter Valley Wine Industry Association Rising Star in 2011. In 2012 Jeff was promoted to Chief Winemaker for Agnew Wines, overseeing the Audrey Wilkinson, Cockfighter's Ghost and Poole's Rock labels.

XANTHE HATCHER
COCKFIGHTER'S GHOST WINEMAKER

Xanthe Hatcher commenced her winemaking career in the Hunter Valley in 2009, and in 2012 was selected as 'Finalist' for The Wine Society's Young Winemaker Award. In 2016 Xanthe's talents were recognised by her peers, being honoured with the Hunter Valley Wine Industry's Alasdair Sutherland Scholarship. In 2017 Xanthe was appointed Winemaker for Cockfighter's Ghost, charged with putting her own stamp on the label including the release of the new Single Vineyard range.

POOLES ROCK

Poole's Rock is a premium label with a 'best of region' philosophy, sourcing the best grapes from highly regarded wine regions around Australia. The impressive collection of trophies and medals that adorn the Poole's Rock labels are testament to the purity of the winemaking of this premium Australian brand.

POOLE'S ROCK PREMIERE

The Premiere range showcases the best wines from iconic regions around Australia. With its first vintage in 1988, Chardonnay was the premiere wine in the Poole's Rock portfolio and has been the flagship ever since.

Audrey Wilkinson.
SINCE 1866

Audrey Wilkinson has one of the longest and richest histories of winemaking in the Hunter Valley region, first planted by the Wilkinson family in 1866 who were true pioneers of the Australian winemaking industry. Audrey Wilkinson recently celebrated 150 years of winemaking excellence, now a 40 ha vineyard known for producing the region's best quality and most awarded wines.

The Audrey Wilkinson brand features three distinctive ranges - Audrey Series, Winemakers Selection and Reserve.

AUDREY WILKINSON SERIES

Our most recognisable label, the Audrey Wilkinson Series features a broad range of wines that showcase the best grapes from the Hunter Valley and across Australia, and are crowd-pleasers for consumers.

Our 2006 Museum 'The Ridge' Semillon is our most awarded wine, taking home 14 Trophies and 22 Gold medals.

Cockfighter's Ghost

Behind every great wine is an even greater story.

The Legend states that in 1835, as explorers attempted to cross a flooded creek, their strongest horse - Cockfighter - drowned bravely trying to get his rider across the raging waters.

The Legend of Cockfighter's Ghost was born.

The Cockfighter's Ghost brand features 3 distinctive ranges - Black Label, Single Vineyard and Reserve.

COCKFIGHTER'S GHOST BLACK LABEL

The Cockfighter's Ghost Black Label range is popular amongst consumers, and is made from the best grapes specifically selected from those regions throughout Australia, which are widely acknowledged as amongst the best for the variety.
